

Introducing author Norm Cowie's humor/fantasy novels

Fang Face (as if being a teenager doesn't suck enough)

The Adventures of Guy ... written by a guy (probably)

The Next Adventures of Guy ... more wackiness

(winner Preditors and Editors Readers Choice Award)

Here's what they have been saying:

"I loved this book, fangs and all." Best selling author James Rollins

"... fantastically funny." BookLoons

"This book sucks ... in a most delightful way. Don't miss this gem..." Shane Gericke, national bestselling author

"... an amusing teen vampire tale..."

Five starred review - Harriet Klausner, Amazon's #1 book reviewer

"...genuinely funny..."

Taliesin - The Vampire's Lair

"... humorous fantasy at its best..." Armchair Interviews (Amazon Top reviewer)

"...LOL funny" Beverly at Publisher's Weekly

"... profound, funny and persistently entertaining read from first page to last." Midwest Book Review

"No topic is safe from Cowie's incredible wit and entertaining turn-of-phrase." Pop Syndicate (rated one of Pop Syndicates Top Ten Books of 2007)

"...hilarious mishaps...." Joliet Herald News

"Hilarious, witty and oozing with snappy sarcasm..." 3Rs Bits, Bites & Books

"Don't bother picking up this one if you've no sense of humor"

Amanda Richards, Amazon Top Reviewer

"Everything in the book is so true, you can't help but laugh in agreement." Roundtable Reviews

Information Sheet

Fang Face

as if being a teenager doesn't suck enough

Erin has bigger worries than how she'll do on her Trig Final.

Somebody bit her...twice. Worse, the somebody was a vampire. Which sucks if it starts you turning into one of the Undead.

But if you're one of those glass-half-full people, things could be worse. After all, your complexion clears...finally...and you can fly! ...Cool! ...and drinking all that blood might as well be the Atkins diet. And freaking out your little sister is definitely a bonus.

And if you dig that edgy Goth look, you've got it made with jet-black hair, porcelain skin, and the most awesome fashion sense ... black, of course.

There's one downside, well, besides being dead of course...and having to give up tanning...and pizza...that wouldn't be so bad. But everyone tells Erin that she's become beautiful. So much so that the other girls in school have started calling her names...like 'Fang Face.'

Erin wouldn't mind checking her new look for herself. But as everyone knows...

Vampires can't see their own reflections!

Title: Fang Face
Author: Norm Cowie (New Lenox, IL)
ISBN: 978-1-59080-620-3
Genre: Young Adult Fantasy

Price: $13.99 US

Echelon Press LLC
9055 G Thamesmeade Road
Laurel, MD 20723

301-490-2507 (V)
echelonpress@gmail.com

Adventures of Guy series

ISBN: 978-1-456590611

Retail $15.00

E-book $3.00

320 pages

ISBN: 978-1-933157-19-1

Retail $17.95

E-book $6.50

288 pages

The Adventures of Guy ... written by a guy (probably)

Somebody took off with Seth's brain ... not that he was using it anyway ... and his big brother Guy isn't going to take it lying down, even though his brother is a pain in the butt who always takes the last cookie. So Guy and his roommates Knob and Thurman join up with a beautiful and curvaceous warrior to take on sinister and evil forces, including attorneys, telemarketers and people who throw cigarette butts out of their car window.

They encounter all kinds of other horrible creatures including the 'plumber's butt' monster and a big cloud that keeps falling from the sky destroying cars, houses and Knob's favorite tennis racquet. But they pick up strange and wonderful powers, allies and French fries along the way.

Will they get Seth's brain back? And if so, would anyone notice? There's only one way to find out.

...and ...

The Next Adventures of Guy ... more wackiness

Every 'Quest' has to have a sorcerer, an elf, a warrior, special effects ... and most of all, a sequel. So in the hilarious sequel to The Adventures of Guy, Guy and his college buddies Knob and Thurman take on a new quest ... to save Earth from alien invasion.

To do this, they must take on Big Oil and other sinister forces using only their wits, their newfound powers and their knowledge of beer, all while overcoming their own leader's lack of faith in their abilities.

But can our heroes do this without their mighty warrior? And with the impending invasion? And with Guy's kid-brother tagging along? Come along with us on The Next Adventures of Guy and find out for yourself.

For more info: For The Adventures of Guy, available through CreateSpace or contact Norm Cowie.

For The Next Adventures, contact

Draumr Publishing LLC
Robert Allen, Editor
P.O. Box 428, Columbia Md 21045
Ph 410-290-6757
Email robert@draumrpublishing.com

Trade paperback and e-book
Available through Ingram and Baker & Taylor ... or directly through publisher
Publicity contact: author or publisher
Please contact Editor (see above) for discount information

Perpetuator of all of this nonsense: author Norm Cowie www.normcowie.com

Daytime: (708) 489-4870

n.cowie@comcast.net or ncowie@evergreenoak.com

You probably guessed that I like writing.... fiction, non-fiction, usually while exercising my funny bone. I put together a bunch of non-fiction short essays that were supposed to go into the Guy Page of the Chicago Tribune. But there was a contract issue - not with me, they couldn't break a contract with someone else - so only one happened and I started writing fiction.

But they are really funny, so I started assembling them in some kind of order. I showed them to people and the most common response was, "Huh?!" usually followed by, "Man, you're weird, dude."

Anyway, it was released onto Kindle in March 2010 for just $1.99! Did you hear me? Less than two bucks! Parts were published in the Chicago Tribune and Cynic Magazine (including three of their "Best Of" issues).

All of them, and way, way more are available on Kindle. (If you don't have Kindle, no sweat, you can download a free Kindle reader from their website and read on your PC).

** The Guy'd Book is available in print or Kindle Woo-hoo!

- Paperback: 280 pages
- Publisher: CreateSpace (July 4, 2010)
  - Language: English
  - ISBN-10: 1453664203
  - ISBN-13: 978-1453664209

Bio

Norm Cowie is author of three fantasy humor novels, Fang Face - young adult - and the adult novels, The Adventures of Guy and The Next Adventures of Guy. He also wrote the non-fiction humor book, The Guy'd Book, why we leave the seat up and other stuff, and contributed to the anthologies Heat of the Moment and Missing.

Norm is a lively speaker and writes an award-winning humor/business column for which his bio is in Who's Who in America (a feat that amazes his family to this day - they think his primary day-time occupation is drinking coffee).

Visit Norm at www.normcowie.com

Visit Norm on his website www.normcowie.com

Or www.fangface.homestead.com

Norm's blog www.fangplace.blogspot.com

You can 'friend' Norm on Myspace or Facebook, or follow him on Twitter

Thanks for your interest. If you've read this far, either you're really hurting for something to read .. may I suggest my books? ... or you're a dedicated reviewer or print media.

If you're one of the latter, I love reviewers and media, because they bring a wonderful thing to the whole kibbles and bits, er, kit and caboodle. That thing is 'publicity.'

And I love publicity! And my publishers love that I love publicity.

So if you're a bona fide reviewer or member of the media, review copies are available to you. Please email me with where to send review copies at

n.cowie@comcast.net

or

ncowie@evergreenoak.com

The second address is my work email, and because our MIS department set our spam filter to 'kill' rather than 'stun,' you might be better off just shooting it to the Comcast address. But I'm at my day-job all day most days, so if you're feeling lucky, feel free to try to get through the filters.

Let me know which book you'd like to see.

Graci, danke, gracias, Honolulu, etc.

Norm

(if you're not a real reviewer or media, sorry, but you gotta buy them)

For Bookstores:

Howdy,

I'm not shy.

I mean, I used to be, but not anymore.

If you will agree to a booksigning, I promise that customers will confuse me with the official 'Greeter.'

My booksigning success comes from putting my book in someone's hands and just asking them to read a page.
Most people will do this.

My books are fun ... every page ... so if they read the page, they will like it.

They won't always buy it ... things are tough. But enough do.

I am also willing to stick around longer. Not just a couple hours. I make it a personal quest to sell every book. I sold out all of my books at Chicago's Printers Row. I went to a multi-author signing where I sold forty books, while none of the other authors sold more than five, probably because they waited for the customers to come to their table while I greeted every new customer in the store.

One Christmas season, mine was the second best selling book for a busy Borders Books location. I came in second behind some wimpy kid's diary. But it was because I was there, working on it.

Please let me know. Check out my website, check out the attachments, and let me know.

Yours truly,

Norm Cowie

Cell 708-977-5013

www.normcowie.com